Abstract— Humans on earth have lived for millions of years, their existence has changed due to death due to the limitations of their lives, their descendants are born and also grow and live as the humans of their ancestors, but due to culture, they can think and communicate rapidly, getting better and better for the next generation. Right now it's like the digital era where it's as if the human world is united in the sense that no one is left behind with information that just happened here and there. But about death, humans have not yet obtained information from scientific developments. However, ancient ancestral traditions began to be used again, especially from ancient belief traditions, and humans rediscovered soul communication with their ancestors. Space is the inspiration that he wants to reach, the science of astronomy is an attempt to find extraterrestrial beings with various UFO phenomena, combined communication between physics, metaphysics, and ancestral traditions of knowing the human soul and spirit, is facing interconnections that perhaps will begin to be opened by meditative movements that include global esotericism, entering a realm that is intangible by the senses, but more real than being able to enter to live in it by a person's free will not return to this world but to live in a space that is more real by what he has experienced himself. This paper will discuss the interconnectivity of the universe and the new universe based on literature and the complexity of earthly human behavior in space.

INTRODUCTION

Science has not yet reached the entire universe, humans are still exploring where they live on Earth, the earth's surface, land, sea, air, and even the depths of the earth. While the vast sky still contains mysteries that continue to arouse the curiosity of scientists, various related fields of science are researching to explore everything in the universe. Astronomy specifically searches for the existence of galaxies, various stars, and planets which are increasingly astonishing because of the vastness of space. Physics and mathematics make people amazed by the existence of the universe, and the thought of the creator of this vast universe brings out the majesty of the creator in humans. The longer humans are dissatisfied with their discoveries, the more they don't know. Science evidence is everything that can be observed by the senses, can be seen, can be touched, and can be scientifically proven that humans already have. However, there is also the science of metaphysics where proving something is not done only with term-based evidence which is evidence that can only be seen by the sense of sight, but with a reality that crosses sensory boundaries. That is something that may not be visible in the 3-dimensional realm because the next realm is the 4-dimensional realm and so on up to the 12-dimensional realm according to Teal Swan and Ervin Lazlo who explore the Akashic region as a phenomenon that occurs in some people who live meditatively in their daily lives.

AKASHIC

The meaning of the word akashic comes from the word akasha in Sanskrit, namely atmosphere, we know the term akashic record, a summary of all human events from thoughts, words, emotions, and intentions that have occurred in the past, present, or future. This term exists in the teachings of theosophy-anthroposophy, which are related to all entities and forms of life, not only limited to humans but to various energy vibrations from the life of various objects and subjects in complex interdimensionality, so that 3-dimensional consciousness may never be able to understand it. In fact, according to the Akashic view, human existence at a 3-dimensional point is overlapped by the 4th to 5th dimensions and so on. The concept of Akashic Records is deeply rooted in spirituality and metaphysical beliefs. According to this concept, the Akashic Records are considered a cosmic universal library that contains all information, thoughts, emotions, and experiences of every soul that has ever lived. Accessing the Akashic Records is believed to be a way of gaining spiritual insights, understanding past lives, and receiving guidance and wisdom. However, it's essential to note that the idea of Akashic Records is not scientifically proven, and accessing them is a matter rather than a tangible, empirical process. Different spiritual traditions have their methods and beliefs about accessing the Akashic Records.

Some common approaches include:

1. Meditation; many believe that through deep meditation and focused intention, one can connect with universal consciousness and access the Akashic Records to receive information and guidance.
2. Intuitive Reading; Some individuals with heightened intuition or psychic abilities may claim to access the Akashic Records through their intuition, receiving messages or insights about the past, present, or future.

It's important to approach the concept of Akashic Records with an open mind and discernment. Belief in the Akashic Records is subjective and varies among individuals and spiritual traditions. Those who believe in it may find spiritual guidance and insights through their practices, while others may view it as a metaphorical or symbolic representation of collective consciousness and human experience.

UNIDENTIFIED FLYING OBJECT

A. UFO

In English-speaking countries it is known as the Unidentified Flying Object, which people are amazed at because some people have experienced seeing in 3-dimensional consciousness the existence of extraterrestrial beings or spaceships flying as fast as light landing on Earth, this experience of seeing this is even though it is reported to others, often considered hallucinations or even suspected of man-made or deception to gain popularity. However, several serious research institutions have made sophisticated equipment to detect the arrival of UFOs on Earth.

B. DEATH

The people who experience suspended animation usually want to live in the world well to be able to re-enter the space and time of death which is bright and happy. experience of death in humans, whether those concerned or relatives and friends of people who died or those left behind, is phenomenal because stories of suspended animation or after being declared dead waking up again to life, and they tell stories about the nature behind their death. Then in their stories, there are so many similarities between the experiences of seeing the light, the light was so bright it blinded their eyes. Some even heard a voice that they understood, including that voice saying that it wasn't time for you to be here, you would soon return to your original place of life in this world. But some are taken first as if flying for a moment to arrive at a beautiful place full of meadows or a flower garden that smells good, and after that, they are asked to return to the world. Isn't this a dimension of life in space and time that is different from the 3-dimensional nature that we feel and feel here? Therefore, according to the experiences of several OBE Out of Body Experiences, being able to express how beautiful it is to be in that dimension always creates an intention to be able to return to the time-space of that dimension. It can be interpreted that the realm of death is not as scary as many people who are afraid of death assume. Indeed Death and other dimensions are complex and have been a subject of interest, speculation, and exploration across various cultures, religions, and scientific fields. There is a brief overview of each topic:

- a. Death of Humankind: Death is the irreversible cessation of biological functions that sustain a living organism, death is an inevitable and natural part of the life cycle. It is the end of an individual's physical existence in the world. Different cultures and belief systems have varying views on what happens after death.
- b. Another Dimension: The concept of "another dimension" is often associated with the idea of parallel universes that exist alongside our own. In theoretical physics, the concept of extra dimensions beyond the three spatial dimensions (length, width, and height) and time is explored through theories like string theory and multiverse theories.

OTHER DIMENSIONAL PHENOMENA

One time a company leader in the city of Bandung, West Java, planned to leave at 18.00 in the afternoon for Solo, an hour earlier when he was at the director's office desk as the leader was preparing something because he was about to leave soon. Suddenly someone knocked on the door and was already in the room, he was surprised but because he was busy writing something on the laptop, responded by asking, what's wrong, sir? The man who looked old replied that if you want to go to Solo, please follow me, sir? The director answered quickly, OK, I'll follow you later. After the old gentleman left, the director realized why the old gentleman, without knocking on the door, was suddenly in the room, so before leaving he asked his secretary in the front room, why did the old gentleman let him go straight into my room? The secretary replied that since earlier no one had entered the director's room. Then Mr. Director was curious and approached the security guard in front of the gate, sir, was there an old gentleman's guest who wanted to see me? Because the time was approaching 18.00 in the afternoon, the director immediately got ready with his wife to leave and immediately got into the car together, when he started to drive slowly from the office out of the gate, suddenly the old man was in front of his vehicle running and asked him to get going and step on the gas, the director was also surprised but he complied and followed this old man running like he was flying. The step on the gas is not felt, but the clock shows 18.30. the old man stopped and the director immediately got down with his wife and got out of the vehicle. He and his wife were amazed, having arrived in the city of Solo, but even more surprised because the city of Solo was in the past during the royal era, he was greeted with a red carpet mat to the king's palace, was given a drink by a royal official, his wife was asked to sit in the waiting room, and the director met in the king's room, after the meeting they were ushered back into the car by the accompanying soldier, and the two of them started driving again to return to the city of Bandung, that's when everything changed. Solo Bandung is not 30 minutes but 7 hours away. This is a phenomenon of the dimensions of space and time that penetrates the boundaries between the sense of sight so that this event becomes a research record that straightforwardly requires an explanation in rational and spiritual reality because it is another dimension that actually can be experienced by the ability to enter into the multidimensional life because the mystery that seems not yet open to everyone, actually for certain people is something that is common and can easily happen to him.

EVOLUTION OF THE UNKNOWN

The universe, which in terms of the science of astronomy was once said to have been started by an enormous explosion or Big Bang, is believed to be the beginning of creation, and this is then confronted with creation according to religious holy books, especially monotheistic religions which say that creation was moved by the Spirit of God as the One who created everything that exists. So when science came to the discovery of fossils and technology that can accurately calculate time with equipment that processes took millions of years, many religious people were shaken in their belief in the story of the creation of the universe and everything in it. But a Catholic priest named Teilhard de Chardin SJ from France who is also a paleontologist, and a well-known philosopher concluded his research, regarding cosmology, biology, anthropology, society, and theology, that the creation of the universe which began with the Big Bang theory to Darwin's theory is an evolutionary process, but God was there and until now the process is ongoing, so evolution was a process that continues, not stops.

CONCLUSION

The journey says that humans are created as the scriptures say, religious people. Meanwhile, intelligent and wise scientists begin to explore whether the truth of the authors of scriptures and science that proves the discovery of the truth of evolution can combine two different views, or can humans now and then capture the essence of both like the philosopher Teilhard de Chardin, SJ who is an expert paleontologist with the conclusion that evolution is continuing until now because of the cause of the creator. Extraterrestrial beings or UFOs have been a phenomenon throughout the centuries of earthly humans and imaginary films about them, are valuable experience facts even though they call it science fiction. If you look at the experiences of individual paranormal or those who have indigo symptoms it can be called life that can penetrate several dimensions of space and time, is a reality that is 3-dimensional reality. So the future of humanity should not reject spirituality which is traced as life in a multi-dimensional mysterious for certain people is no longer a mystery but a reality across dimensions. Hopefully, human thought in the future will open itself to other dimensions that are still not explored by many people. While rigorous scientific research is still needed to distinguish between subjective experience and claims that can be tested and measured objectively, it is important to note that science too respects the diversity of human experience and does not minimize or ignore such subjective experience.
